CEO/President
Self-Insured Reporting

Mark is the Founder and CEO of Healthcare Reporting, an organization committed to delivering smart and affordable services to Plan Sponsors, Brokers, TPAs, PBMs, Captives, and the Stop-loss marketplace in general.

Mark began his professional career in financial services in 1998. He gained some initial experience on the individual side of the business but was quickly hired away by Marsh & McLennan Companies after completing the program to become a Certified Financial Planner (CFP).

In his first year in the field of employee benefits, Mark proved adept in the industry by applying his newly acquired skill set. He gained national attention by entering into an elite group comprised of the top 1% of all salespeople in Marsh's company of 55,000 employees. Distinguishing himself as a top producer, he gained the attention of the industry at large which led to an opportunity to become a partner at Blue Water Benefits, a small benefits firm in Charleston, SC.

In 2013, Mark founded Sky Insurance Technologies to bring best-in-class technologies to the group insurance world. Our approach is one of group insurance experts who understand exactly what works from first-hand experience.

During his entire career, Mark has been committed to education and in 2003 was honored with the Distinguished Educational Achievement Award for his 7 professional designations (CFA, CFP, CLU, ChFC, RHU, REBC, GBA). Mark is a graduate of Wofford College, where he attended on a football scholarship and graduated with two degrees: BA in Political Economy & Philosophy, a BS in Economics.
